

TAGIUNI Holds First of Its Kind Online Training Course in the Region

(MENAFN Press) The online course entitled "Organize Personal Work Priorities and Development" covers the skills and knowledge required to organize own work schedules, monitor and obtain feedback on work performance, and maintain required levels of competence.

AMMAN-----September 2, 2012-----The Talal Abu-Ghazaleh University (TAGIUNI), Democratizing World-Class Education and its Australian partner the International Training & Development Group (ITAD Group) and Talal Abu-Ghazaleh professional training group organized a comprehensive online course considered the first of its kind in the region with participants from seven different countries.

The online course entitled "Organize Personal Work Priorities and Development" covers the skills and knowledge required to organize own work schedules, monitor and obtain feedback on work performance, and maintain required levels of competence.

Talal Abu-Ghazaleh University (TAGIUNI) Executive Director for Partnerships Mr. Salah Abu Osbeh said:"This online course follows the vision of HE Dr. Talal Abu-Ghazaleh, TAGIUNI president who is personally interested in this type of training."

He added: "This unique in its method and comprehensive in its content training course is an asset to all individuals representing different levels at any organization, it's a more reliant and flexible approach in comparison to conventional in-class training. We are happy to partner with ITAD group, a full service end-to-end global training organization, with an in-depth expertise in the fields of training and development. With this partnership, we look forward to take our mutual and innovative offerings to the learning fraternity, and help spread the word of education."

In July, TAGIUNI and ITAD group signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to establish a joint team for identifying and considering jointly undertaking future business opportunities.
