Abu-Ghazaleh Knowledge Forum / Talal Abu-Ghazaleh University September 8-11, 2014 under the patronage and attendance of HE Dr. Talal Abu-Ghazaleh.

The workshop will focus on the protection of the DNS databases, protection of processes during transmission and reception, protection from electronic attacks on the DNS, safe Internet protocols and uses thereof, signature, encryption and other requirements for a safe communication environment between the users and servers. The workshop also includes theoretical training and practical applications, as well as a visit to the National Information Technology Center in Jordan.

Mr. Charles Shaban, Executive Director of Abu-Ghazaleh Intellectual Property, explained that the workshop will enable participants to establish Domain name systems in their organizations and countries safe.

Domain names registries, as well as Domain names registrars from the following countries: Jordan, UAE, Egypt, Bahrain, Kuwait, Morocco, Yemen, Tunisia and Pakistan will take part in the event.

It is worth mentioning that ICANN is a non-profit organization established in 1998. ICANN staff operates the Internet domain name system and coordinate the distribution and assignment of Internet unique identifiers such as IP addresses. They are also responsible for accrediting generic top-level domain names (gTLD) registrars. domain names and helping in the development of Internet policies.

India: Increase in Trademark Official Filing Fees

NEW DELHI – The Office of Controller General Patents, Designs and Trade Marks, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India, issued a public notice on August 7, 2014 related to increase in fees for filing a trademark application.

The public notice states that the fees for filing an application to register a trademark for a specification of goods or services included in one class has been increased from Rs. 3.500 to Rs. 4.000, and the fees for expedite examination has been increased to 20.000 respectively.

This decision is effective as from the publication date at the Official Gazette, August 1, 2014.

Enhancing ICANN Accountability and Governance - Process and Next Steps

ICANN published Enhancing ICANN Accountability and Governance - Process and Next Steps, a document that describes the process to examine how, from an organizational perspective, ICANN's accountability mechanisms should be strengthened to address the absence of its historical relationship with the US Government including looking at strengthening existing accountability mechanisms, a press release by ICANN.

On 14 March 2014, the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) announced its intention to transition its stewardship of the Internet Assigned Numbers Authority to the global stakeholder community, which would end its contractual relationship with ICANN that has existed since 1998. That historical relationship has been perceived as a backstop with regard to ICANN's organization-wide accountability.

Last spring, when the community began its initial discussions on the task of transitioning NTIA's stewardship of the IANA Functions, the community raised the broader topic of the impact of the change on ICANN's accountability. What emerged was a commitment to launch a second process – parallel but interrelated with the IANA stewardship transition process – to do this work.

During an extended public comment period from the beginning of May to the end of June, we received 49 comments, with a majority discussing the more substantive aspects of accountability, while some focused on the design of the review process itself.

An important attribute of the IANA Stewardship Transition process and this ICANN Accountability & Governance Review process is that the work of each completes in time to meet the expectations of the IANA Functions Contract ending in September 2015.
